This engaging mystery novel follows Molly Gray, the Head Maid at the Regency Grand Hotel, and offers a unique perspective on social class, invisible professions, and the need for human connection. The community is invited to celebrate this title and the upcoming movie adaptation of the author’s previous novel. Save the date for an evening with the author and a book signing at the John Elliott Theatre on October 9.

4. Halton Hills Sticker Map Program

Mayor A. Lawlor announced the following:

I am pleased to announce a new and exciting tourism initiative in our community, the Halton Hills Sticker Map Program.

Lead by the Economic Development and Innovation division, this program invites residents and visitors alike to explore Halton Hills, support local businesses, along with a chance to win some great prizes by completing their own Sticker Map.

The program will run throughout the summer from June 1 until August 31. To participate, you can pick up your large Sticker Map at select Town facilities such as: Gellert Community Centre, Mold-Masters SportsPlex, Acton Arena, Halton Hills Public Library and Cultural Centre, and Halton Hills Public Library – Acton Branch. Then, travel around Halton Hills and collect one mini sticker from a participating tourism-based business from each Georgetown, Acton, and Glen Williams to complete your Sticker Map. We have 20 small businesses participating in this program!

Once complete, stick your completed Sticker Map on your water bottle, laptop, helmet, or wherever you can fit the unique sticker. Take a picture and upload it to visithaltonhills.ca/stickersubmission for a chance to win one of 50 great tourism prizes, including a Visit Halton Hills campfire mug and tote bag to celebrate the Town of Halton Hills’ 50th Anniversary. We’d love to see your adventures, share with us by tagging @visithaltonhills on Instagram or using #visithaltonhills.

For more information on where to collect your stickers and how to participate in the program, go to Visit Halton Hills’ website at visithaltonhills.ca/stickermap.

5. Importance of Naloxone Kits

Mayor A. Lawlor announced the following:

Over the weekend, Halton Regional Police Services responded to two separate instances of suspected opioid poisoning and as a result there were three people who died in Halton Hills. I want to offer my condolences to the family and friends of those people. While I do not know the circumstances of these deaths, I do know that substance abuse is a very serious problem throughout our community.

Those suffering from this addiction should carry naloxone which can temporarily reverse an opioid overdose until the individual can be transported to hospital for treatment. There are first aid kits available free of charge with no questions asked at Halton Region Harm Reduction services, sexual health clinics and most pharmacies. Due to the possibility of opioid contamination or poisoning with street drugs, it is recommended that naloxone be used in all suspected drug poisoning.

The Halton Regional Police Services have also reminded us that the Good Samaritan Drug Overdose Act provides legal protections for anyone seeking emergency support during a drug poisoning including the person experiencing the poisoning. I will be reaching out to Halton Public Health to ensure that naloxone is readily available in our community.

6. 80th Anniversary of D-Day

Councillor A. Hilson announced the following:

The Acton Legion is holding a wreath laying on June 6th recognizing the 80th anniversary of D-Day. The Normandy landings marked a significant turning point in the Second World War with Canadian troops garnering recognition for their landings on Juno beach and other contributions. The Legion's wreath lying will be at the Acton Cenotaph at 11:30 am but I encourage residents to mark the day in whatever way seems fit for them.

7. Downtown Georgetown Farmer's Market

Councillor R. Norris announced the following:

We have our Downtown Georgetown Farmer's Market starting up this Saturday June 1st. We have a new BIA Manager, Maureen Turner for Downtown Georgetown, who has been working with vendors to get everything set up. We have returning vendors and new vendors this year and I encourage everyone to visit and check it out.

8. Bike it to the Market

Councillor J. Fogal announced the following:

At the Farmer's Market we have secure bike parking where you can check your bike during your visit and enjoy a free pancake breakfast. It will be hosted on Father's Day weekend. We still have volunteer positions available for anyone who is interested.

9. Halton Region Special Waste Drop-off Day

Halton Region is hosting a special waste drop-off day at the Robert C. Austin Operations Centre this Saturday June 1st from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. It gives residents of Halton Hills the opportunity to drop off things such as batteries, computers, motor oil, paint and other things that do not get picked up curbside and are not permitted at the Leferink Transfer Centre.
